PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Full-stack JavaScript developer with hands-on experience building production-grade web platforms. Designed and shipped two live academic journal systems — DomainJournals.com and DSDHJ.ng — featuring authentication pipelines, manuscript workflows, payment integration, and admin dashboards. Strong focus on backend architecture, security, and mobile-responsive UX. Currently a 200-level Project Management student at Lagos State University.

EXPERIENCE

Freelance Full-Stack Developer · Self-Employed

Jan 2024 – Present

- Designed and deployed two live academic journal platforms (DomainJournals.com and DSDHJ.ng) serving real users from scratch.
- Built secure authentication systems using JWT with token rotation and bcrypt password hashing.
- Developed manuscript submission, editorial review, and publishing workflows with role-based access control.
- Integrated Paystack payment processing and Cloudinary file storage into production applications.
- Built an integrated online exam system with timed sessions, admin exam locking, and bulk result printing.
- Implemented automated email flows, rate limiting, and backend PDF proxy for secure file downloads.
